Version 0.98 of mSpecs Editor is available. The changes include:

- added scripting language including full undo/redo support.
- added compression to saved libraries resulting in about three times smaller size.
- added possibility to abort printing.
- added function to save libraries if program is terminated abnormally.
- added search and sort for molecular masses of the components.
- fixed bug that caused heavy delays on using drag/drop and copy/paste.
- fixed bug with disappearing splitter on spectrum tab.
- further bug fixes and minor improvements.
